THE WEEKLY WORD
WORSHIP · GROW · SERVE · MULTIPLY

"Hesitation"

Second guessing ourselves is inevitable. However it is not a condition by which we may be defined...unless we let ourselves be. A strong argument can be made for the fact that sometimes we have a Ready, Fire, Aim attitude and it almost always gets us in trouble. Hesitation isn't always a bad thing. More times than I would like to admit, I have sat glued to my chair, staring at the pulpit into which I was about to step, praying under my breath: "Lord, I'm not sure I am ready to do this." Hesitation is a reality.

When Joe Garagiola was a catcher in the major leagues he had a young pitcher out on the mound who had just come up from the team's farm club. It was his first time to ever pitch in the majors, and the first two batters he had faced had both gotten hits and now were on second and third. The next batter, the one standing there in the batter's box, was none other than the Cardinal's inimitable slugger, Stan Musial.

Well, Garagiola squatted down behind home plate and flashed the signal for the fast ball, but the young pitcher shook his head to indicate that was not the pitch he wanted to throw. So Garagiola flashed the signal for the curve ball, but again the young man shook his head to say that wasn't the pitch he wanted to throw either. Joe signaled for the change up and the slider, but neither of these pitches suited the young rookie. Garagiola called time-out and ran out to the mound. "Hey, man", he said, "I've called for every pitch in the book and you've shaken them off. What do you want to throw?" And the frightened young man looked Garagiola in the eyes and said, "Nothin', Joe. Nothin' at all. I just want to hold onto the ball as long as I can."

We all know what it is like to feel fear, even in routine situations. More often than not that kind of fear is rooted in the prospect of failure. And failure is a frightening prospect. A successful life is not one in which there is no fear, but a life in which fear is overcome or managed. The possibility of failure is always present. It is part and parcel of living. If absolute certainty is a basic requirement for life then being born was a fundamental mistake.

We tend to overlook the possible value of failure. Unless it is constantly repeated, we learn far more from our failures than we do from our successes. We tend to think the only time we win is when we win. Consider the times and places in your life from which you have learned the most. It may surprise you. If you fail it does not mean you are a failure. It means that you are moving along the continuum toward wisdom and maturity. You cannot hold the ball all day.

Play ball!

Blessings to You,

Pastor Bobby
